

SOLTEN VENTURES PUBLIC POLICY

Disclosures

Important disclosures regarding Solten Ventures research, analysis, investment-related information, and public materials.

1. Scope

This Disclosures statement applies to Solten Ventures and the websites, publications, research, analytical materials, service descriptions, and other public-facing properties that link to or expressly adopt it.

2. General informational purpose

Public materials are provided for general informational purposes. They may include research, analysis, commentary, frameworks, examples, market observations, company analysis, service descriptions, and opinions.

Unless expressly stated in a separate written agreement, public materials are not individualized legal, tax, accounting, audit, investment, securities, regulatory, or other licensed professional advice.

3. Investment-related information

Solten Ventures is not presenting public website content as an offer to sell, a solicitation of an offer to buy, or a recommendation to acquire, dispose of, or hold any security or financial instrument.

Any investment-related analysis may discuss companies, markets, financing activity, valuation, business models, transactions, or investment processes. Such discussion is analytical in nature and should not be treated as a substitute for independent investment judgment or professional advice.

4. Independence and judgment

Solten Ventures may provide research, analytical support, decision infrastructure, business performance analysis, company diagnostics, or other services under separate engagement terms. The client or investor retains responsibility for judgment, conviction, capital allocation, operating decisions, and final authority unless a separate written agreement expressly states otherwise.

5. Sources and third-party information

Research and analysis may rely on public information, third-party databases, company materials, interviews, market data, estimates, or other sources believed to be useful. Definitions, methodologies, timing, and data quality may differ across sources.

We seek to distinguish reported facts, third-party claims, assumptions, estimates, and our own interpretation where doing so is material to the analysis. We do not guarantee that third-party information is complete, current, or error-free.

6. Forward-looking statements and uncertainty

Public materials may discuss expectations, scenarios, estimates, forecasts, market developments, potential outcomes, or other forward-looking matters. These are inherently uncertain and may differ materially from actual results.

The absence of a stated uncertainty, risk, or alternative scenario should not be interpreted as an indication that none exists.

7. Companies, securities, and relationships

Solten Ventures may from time to time research, analyze, work with, have commercial relationships with, or otherwise interact with companies, investors, service providers, or market participants mentioned in public materials.

Where a relationship is material to the context of a specific publication and reasonably likely to affect a reader's interpretation, Solten Ventures may provide a publication-specific disclosure. The absence of such a disclosure does not represent that no relationship of any kind exists.

8. No guarantee of outcomes

Research, analytical systems, diagnostic frameworks, business reviews, and other services are intended to improve the quality and structure of decision-making. They do not guarantee investment performance, business performance, financing outcomes, transaction outcomes, operational improvement, or any other result.

9. Intellectual property and references

Third-party company names, product names, trademarks, logos, data, and other referenced materials remain the property of their respective owners. References do not imply sponsorship, endorsement, or affiliation unless expressly stated.

10. Changes to this statement

We may update this Disclosures statement from time to time as our public properties, research practices, services, or legal requirements evolve. The effective date shown in this document identifies the current version.

Contact

Questions about these disclosures may be submitted through the contact details published on the applicable Solten Ventures property.